

A message to Adrem's valued Clients

The current global economic crisis is challenging many of Adrem's clients. We understand the need to control costs at the moment and just want to assure you that we're here for you now as a sounding board and will remain here as things begin to pick up.

During these times, Adrem remains committed to providing exceptional recruitment services for the design and architecture industries, to help our clients make the most of their business by finding first class staff to get you through the recession. But it doesn't stop there. If you need a chat about your business needs, HR advice or just to get some opinions on the market as a whole, get in touch.

If you're bombarded with CVs and don't have the resources to filter through them, let us know. We're experts in selecting exceptional candidates and are more than happy to donate a morning to help you. We won't charge you for this, as long as you provide the coffee!

Adrem is a partner that you can trust and whatever your business needs, we will do our best to help. We have over 25 years in the industry and have seen ourselves through a recession before. It's tough, but we'll all come out stronger if we're savvy.

If you're looking to develop your business abroad, our international reach sets us apart from many competitor agencies in London. We've an established office in Dubai which extends our services across the globe, leaving our London team to concentrate on the UK and the rest of Europe.

We offer much more than just recruitment. We have strategically diversified our expertise and experience across most design market sectors worldwide and offer executive search, strategic/HR consultancy, cv guidance, interview skills and career guidance.

Whatever you need, we're here to help.
